SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Dietary Supplement Health and Education Act (DSHEA) authorizes manufacturers of dietary supplements to claim effects on the “structure or function” of the body, but not to make claims to mitigate, treat, prevent, cure, or diagnose disease (21 U.S.C. 343(r)(6)). To explain how this part of DSHEA was to be implemented, FDA published the “structure/function rule” on January 6, 2000 (65 FR 1000) (§ 101.93(f) and (g) (21 CFR 101.93(f) and (g))). This rule distinguishes between disease claims, which create a requirement that evidence of safety and efficacy be presented to the agency before marketing, and structure/function claims, which do not create such a requirement. In the preamble to that final rule, FDA stated that it would publish guidance on applying the rule. FDA is seeking public comment on the topics that should be included in the guidance.

II. Description of the Guidance

In the preamble to the structure/function rule, FDA stated that it would provide, through guidance, examples of labeling claims that would and would not be considered disease claims under the rule, including examples of product names. FDA also stated that it would issue guidance, if necessary, on the citation of a publication or a reference implying the treatment or prevention of a disease (§ 101.93(g)(2)(iv)(C)). The agency invites comments on whether guidance on this topic is necessary. Because issues pertaining to the substantiation of structure/function claims are outside the scope of the rule (see 65 FR 1000 at 1032), the agency does not plan to address such issues in the guidance that is the subject of this notice. However, the agency does plan to issue a separate guidance on the substantiation of claims.

III. Request for Comments

FDA invites all interested parties to comment on the topics to be included in the guidance, to suggest additional topics for inclusion in the guidance, and to address any other issue appropriate for this guidance. Interested persons may submit to the Dockets Management Branch (address above) written comments by [insert date 90 days after date of publication in the Federal Register].

Two copies of any comments are to be submitted, except that individuals may submit one copy.

Comments are to be identified with the docket number found in brackets in the heading of this document. Received comments may be seen in the Dockets Management Branch between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.
